科目内容	You will study an academic subject (American Studies) and be responsible for learning, summarising, and thinking critically about the content, all while using English. The textbook and the teacher will give you help in understanding the content, and in developing your study. The course will cover topics that connect history to current issues - e.g. the Bill of Rights and the modern questions of free speech and gun ownership, and the history of immigration and diversity today. We will also look at popular stories, poems, songs, movies, news, and advertising, to get a deeper understanding of life in the USA and the Americas. IMPORTANT: The level of English is intermediate, so students should have already successfully completed American Studies I or British Studies I in English if they hope to do well in this course.
注意事項	Students must be prepared to work in groups organising facts and ideas, to make individual oral reports, to participate in discussions, and to give group presentations. This class is all English, CEFR B1 level (TOEIC 400-660). You will need to buy the textbook: Williams, Jessica. 2013. Academic Encounters: American Studies 2: Reading, Writing, 2nd Edition . Cambridge University Press.
